Admissions requirements

Usually at least a second-class honours degree (2:2) or above, or international equivalent, in a relevant subject and/or relevant professional training and language teaching experience. An interview may be required. A short admissions task of no more than 500 words may also be requested, to support your application.

You must provide two references, at least one of which should be an academic reference.

We welcome applicants without traditional entry qualifications as we base decisions on our own assessment of qualifications, knowledge and previous work experience. We may waive formal entry requirements based on judgement of academic potential.

Course aims

The PG Dip Language Teaching/TESOL is designed for people with classroom experience of teaching second or foreign languages, including English as a second/foreign language, or those with a broadly relevant first degree background and who have an interest in the theory and practice of language teaching. The programme offers the opportunity to update and expand your knowledge of the theories of language teaching and learning and to develop and deepen your understanding of classroom practice through personal reflection and discussion with other practitioners.

The programme values the importance of reflection on practical experience of language learning and teaching in providing the context for theoretical concepts. Participants are asked to draw on examples from their learning and teaching experiences and are encouraged to maintain contact with the classroom during the course as a way of bridging the gap between theory and practice.

The PG Dip Language Teaching/TESOL aims to increase your understanding of key concepts in language teaching through the academic literature; to develop a critical approach to methods and materials; to offer the opportunity to reflect on professional practice; to promote cross-cultural awareness at the same time as knowledge of different teaching contexts; and to provide a range of options to allow for different professional interests.

The PG Dip Language Teaching/TESOL enables students who may not be interested in committing to an MA programme to gain knowledge in the field of language teaching.

The exit award students receive will reflect the work completed; students focusing on aspects of teaching English in their work will be awarded a PG Diploma TESOL upon successful completion of the course, while those focusing on the teaching of languages other than English will be awarded a PG Diploma in Language Teaching.

How you will learn

Your learning and teaching is organised to help you meet the learning outcomes (below) of the course. As a student, we expect you to be an active learner and to take responsibility for your learning, engaging with all of the material and sessions arranged for you.

Each course is divided into modules. You will find information on the virtual learning site (Moodle, see Academic Support below) about each of your modules, what to expect, the work you need to prepare, links to reading lists, information about how and when you will be assessed.

Your learning for this course will be organised around the activities outlined below.

Teaching takes several forms, including lectures, seminars, discussions, workshops and presentations.

How we will assess you

The course will use a variety of assessment methods. Assessment is used to enhance your learning rather than simply to test it. For most of the modules associated with this course, your assessment will be through the following types of assessment.

Assessments for the core modules and options are coursework based.

Learning outcomes (what you can expect to achieve)

'Learning outcomes' indicate what you should be able to know or do at the end of your course. Providing them helps you to understand what your teachers will expect and also the learning requirements upon which you will be assessed.

At the end of this course, you should be able to:

- demonstrate substantial knowledge and understanding of the main theories, principles and models in the study of language teaching.

- demonstrate substantial knowledge of the relationship between teaching, learning and language.
- Demonstrate appreciation of the relationship between theory and practice and the ability to make connections between theories and practice
- Critically evaluate theories
- Reflect on one's own personal and professional experience
- Apply an analytical and systematic approach to problem-solving
- Demonstrate the ability to synthesise ideas and information
- Demonstrate academic writing skills
- Utilise Library research skills
- Develop self-confidence through appreciation of individual and cultural styles of learning and communication

Careers and further study

If you are an experienced teacher this programme will help you to progress to a more senior or specialised position in language teaching, such as a:

- senior teacher
- director of studies
- teacher trainer
- consultant
- materials developer

Graduates of can also pursue career paths in local and national government, the charity sector, public relations and the media, marketing, lexicography and translation, and tourism/hospitality. Possible professions include:

- language teacher (TESOL)
- secondary/further/higher education lecturer
- publisher
- translator
- speech and language therapist
- community development worker
- youth worker
- special educational needs teacher.

Birkbeck offers a range of careers support to its students. You can find out more on the careers pages of our website.

Academic regulations and course management

Birkbeck's academic regulations are contained in its Common Award Scheme Regulations and Policies published by year of application on the Birkbeck website.

You will have access to a course handbook on Moodle and this will outline how your course is managed, including who to contact if you have any questions about your module or course.

Support for your study

Your learning at Birkbeck is supported by your teaching team and other resources and people in the College there to help you with your study. Birkbeck uses a virtual learning environment called Moodle and each course has a dedicated Moodle page and there are further Moodle sites for each of your modules. This will include your course handbook.

Birkbeck will introduce you to the Library and IT support, how to access materials online, including using Moodle, and provide you with an orientation which includes an online Moodle module to guide you through all of the support available. You will also be allocated a personal tutor and provided with information about learning support offered within your School and by the College.

Please check our website for more information about student support services. This covers the whole of your time as a student with us including learning support and support for your wellbeing.

Quality and standards at Birkbeck

Birkbeck's courses are subject to our quality assurance procedures. This means that new courses must follow our design principles and meet the requirements of our academic regulations. Each new course or module is subject to a course approval process where the proposal is scrutinised by subject specialists, quality professionals and external representatives to ensure that it will offer an excellent student experience and meet the expectation of regulatory and other professional bodies.

You will be invited to participate in an online survey for each module you take. We take these surveys seriously and they are considered by the course team to develop both modules and the overall courses. Please take the time to complete any surveys you are sent as a student.

We conduct an annual process of reviewing our portfolio of courses which analyses student achievement, equality data and includes an action plan for each department to identify ongoing enhancements to our education, including changes made as a result of student feedback.

Our periodic review process is a regular check (usually every four years) on the courses by department with a specialist team including students.

Each course will have an external examiner associated with it who produces an annual report and any recommendations. Students can read the most recent external examiner reports on the course Moodle pages. Our courses are all subject to Birkbeck Baseline Standards for our Moodle module information. This supports the accessibility of our education including expectations of what information is provided online for students.

The information in this programme specification has been approved by the College's Academic Board and every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information it contains.

Programme specifications are reviewed periodically. If any changes are made to courses, including core and/or compulsory modules, the relevant department is required to provide a revised programme specification. Students will be notified of any changes via Moodle.

Further information about specifications and an archive of programme specifications for the College's courses is available online.
